HARDING LAUDS WASHINGTON ON BATTLE FIELDS

President Asserts Marble
Is Not Only Monument
To Great Leader.

DEFIANCE PICTURED

Against Awful Odds, First Great American Stood
As Heroic Figure.

(By the Associated Press)
PRINCETON, June 9.—President Harding reached here today at 1 p. m. to dedicate the Princeton Battle Monument after traveling across country from Somerville, N. J., by motor, with his party.
Behind a squadron of cavalry and guarded on the flanks by field artillery, which delivered the 21 gun presidential salute, the president was taken direct to the monument and the speaker's stand.
Bayard Stockton, a descendant of a Declaration of Independence signer pulled away a great flag which draped the MacMonnies sculpture commemorating George Washington's exploits in leading the revolutionary army in the Princeton-Trinton campaign against the British. There were other brief preliminaries in the dedication ceremony.
At their conclusion President Harding swung straight into his address, an appreciation of the genius of Washington which he said "has reached the height of brilliancy in action."
A quiet throng in the open air on the Princeton Inn grounds, heard the president's words.
Brilliance Cited.
The brilliance of General Washington's genius in action and the devotion of his followers of the continental army under great privations were extolled by the president. The memorial was fitting to the heroes and heroism of that day, he declared, adding that "we bring and lay at its foot the laurel wreaths which gratitude and patriotic sentiment will always dedicate to those who have borne the heat and burden of the conflict."
The president spoke as follows:
"My fellow Americans:
"We have come here to say the formal words of dedication and consecration before a monument in granite and marble. But we stand to say those words in the presence of another monument, which is the true memorial to the event we celebrate. The real monument to the achievement of Washington's patriotic army in the Trenton-Princeton campaign is not in workings of bronze or carvings of stone. It rears itself from liberty and representative governments now big in the vision of all mankind.
A Strategic Spot.
"In the presence of such a monument, we can do no better than consecrate ourselves to the cause in which at the place the soul of genius and the spirit of sacrifice, shone forth with steadfast radiance. On no other battle ground, in presence of no other memorial of heroism, could we find more assuring illumination for our hopes, our anticipations, our confidence.
"And then the flash of Washington's defiance; the crossing of the Delaware in storm and ice flows; the march, and the delays which made it impossible to effect a night attack, and complete surprise; Washington's stern and fateful decision to press on and stake everything on the issue; finally, the attack and victory!
"Brilliant as was the accomplishment, Washington on the Jersey side was faced presently by the superior strength of the now consolidated British forces. At last his rival was sure of the old fox. Then came the strategic withdrawal by Washington at night, in secret, from his line on the Assunpink creek, the flanking march to Princeton and the second surprise and defeat of the enemy.
"In the narrative of those magnificent winter days, of marching and fighting, surprises and victories, one finds the truest presentation of the indomitable spirit which sustained and at last won the revolution.
Memorable Campaign.
"It is not often that the precise importance and significance of a particularly military detail can be so accurately appraised, as it can regarding the mid-winter campaign of Trenton-Princeton. The promulgation of the declaration of independ-

The thousands made the trip from Chicago and other northern Illinois cities in autos.

Ada Firm to Build Factory at Ardmore For Making of Brick

ARDMORE, June 9.—(Special)—Construction of a $100,000 brick factory will be under way in this city within the near future following consummation of a deal between R. H. Harris and son of Ada and the Ardmore chamber of commerce, whereby he Harris interests have acquired a tract of land north of Ardmore in the industrial addition.

On the tract is a bed of brick shale, which the promoters believe justifies the erection of the factory. Four large test wells were sunk on the tract to determine the extent and depth of the deposit and a final test now is being made. Daily output of the factory, according to present plans, will be 20,000 bricks.

Rural Schools Plan New Buildings With More Teaching Force

Rural schools of the county are fast hitting the pace that will put them on a standing comparable with the independent school. A. Floyd, county superintendent, said today following the receipt of announcements from several districts that bonds have been voted and new buildings with more teachers are contemplated.

Laxton school has lately voted $6000 in bonds and will erect a 4-room brick building and teacherage. It will add some high school work and will employ more teachers.

Black Rock has added two teachers and has voted bonds to build another room on its present school house.

Galey school has added to its building and will have three teachers next year.
Pleasant Hill has a new school building and teacherage. Latta consolidated school has one of the most modern buildings and corps of teachers in this part of the country, Floyd said. Others are planning extensions in their work.

A motorless flight-tourney is planned in France for August 6 to 20. Americans and all citizens of the late allied or neutral countries are eligible to enter the tourney and compete for 100,000 francs in prizes.

HANSEN TO PAVE SOUTH TOWNSEND CITY DADS SAY

I. E. Hansen, local paving contractor, was awarded today the contract for paving two districts in south Ada, for which bids were received by city commissioners Wednesday.

The two paving districts include eight blocks on South Townsend avenue in one district and a block on West Seventeenth street in the other district.

Work will be started on the paving as soon as preliminary steps can be taken, according to commissioners. Drainage pipes and other foundation work will have to be finished before the regular paving work can be started. It was the belief of contractors and commissioners that about 90 working days would be required to complete the work.

TRIPLE PLAN ON MUSCLE SHOALS ENTERED TODAY

Three Reports Describing Proposals Are Placed Before House.

TO DECIDE AS A BODY

Ford's Offer Is Declared
Only One Worthy of Serious Notice.

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 9.—Three special reports setting forth recommendations for action by congress with respect to private development of the government's $106,000,000 power and nitrate properties at Muscle Shoals, Ala., were made to the house today by members of the military committee.

The task of making a final decision is attributed by each report to be the duty of the full membership of the house at an early date, but recommendations to that end, submitted after four months of continued consideration by the committee, differed in important respects as they are presented and recorded in the documents.

Acting Chairman McKenzie of Illinois, who drafted the majority report, declared at the outset of that declaration that Ford's proposal was the only one found "worthy of serious consideration," and its acceptance by the house, provided however, that the Gorgas, Ala., steam plant be not included among the properties to be disposed of, was asked.

Minority Opinion Filed.

Concurrence in the majority report, except for the reference with respect to the Gorgas plant, is involved in one of the minority opinions presented by Representative Wright, democrat, Georgia, and supported by Representative James, republican, Michigan, and remaining democratic members. They asked full compliance by the house with all proposals included in the Ford offer, including the Gorgas properties, and adds that if congress disposes of the government units, Ford should be given the contract.

In the third report submitted by Representative Parker, republican, New Jersey, and signed by Representative Frothingham, republican, Mass., the opinion is adverse to the acceptance of Mr. Ford's offer unless it is modified in other sections than that dealing with Gorgas. In the event Mr. Ford declines to agree to the modifications proposed, the signatories would have the secretary of war to lease the dams and nitrate plant on such terms "as will insure the completion of the dams," and would authorize him to "settle the approximate value of the Gorgas plant and sell the same to the Alabama Power company."

No Date Is Fixed.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—House leaders declined today to give the membership any indication as to how soon the reports dealing with Henry Ford's offer for the Muscle Shoals properties might be taken up for consideration. Representative Mondell, republican leader, declaring that no decision could be reached until the various reports had been submitted and studied.

ADA BANKER MET DEATH FROM OWN HAND SAYS JURY

Coroner's Board Returns
Sealed Opinion in the Timberlake Case.

REVISIT DEATH ROOM

Concluding Testimony in Probe Is Completed
Early Friday.

M. D. Timberlake, vice-president of the First National bank, died from a gunshot wound inflicted by his own hand, according to a sealed verdict returned at 11:30 this morning by a coroner's jury empaneled yesterday.

The decision was brought in after a consultation lasting 45 minutes following the conclusion of testimony this morning and a second visit by the foremen to the basement room in the bank where the body was found lifeless on the afternoon of December 14, 1921.

County Judge Tal Crawford read the verdict and it was sworn to by the jury. The coroner's board was composed of H. C. Hoyle, C. V. Polk, W. B. Johnson, J. L. Brown, Clive Robertson and W. B. Sanders, all farmers living near Ada.

Assistant Attorney General N. W. Gore, who conducted the investigation at the order of Governor J. B. A. Robertson, returned to Oklahoma City today.

Case Tells Story.

P. S. Case was the first witness called this morning as testimony was resumed into the death of M. D. Timberlake on December 14, 1921. He said that a number of the First National bank officials were called to the basement after it had been discovered by the janitor that a body was blocking the door from inside.

He said by the light of a match he discovered the leg of a man inside when the door had been partly opened. Once inside, he could see the inert form of a human body but at first was unable to identify it. It was lying face down, he said, and later someone remarked "there is a gun." Doctor Craig arrived shortly and upon investigation a gunshot wound was discovered on Timberlake's right temple.

Heard Report of Gun.

L. D. Jeter testified to having heard the report of a gun that morning but couldn't trace definitely its source.

Sworn testimony taken two weeks ago from Mrs. C. D. Price was introduced. The state then rested but one of the jurors called for Claude Griffith, who repeated much of the testimony given by Case and others. At 10 a. m. Assistant Attorney General N. W. Gore took the jury and revisited the death room for a short inspection of its contents.

Three verdict forms were furnished the jury with instructions to return one of the following decisions:

1. That Timberlake met his death by his own hand.
2. That he died from a gunshot inflicted by a person unknown.
3. That he died from a shot fired by a definite person, giving his name.

Banker Was Depressed

Testimony tended to show that Timberlake acted queerly shortly before his death was brought out later yesterday afternoon when N. B. Haney, vice-president of the bank and B. C. King, whose attorney's office is across the street and overlooking the office occupied by Timberlake, when questioned.

Haney said he had known Timberlake more than ten years prior to his death. He testified that on the morning before the banker's lifeless body was found in the basement, he had conversed with him and found him strangely depressed. While the two were at a window, in the First National bank, Haney said, Timberlake asked sadly:

"Son, do you reckon everybody in the whole world is blown up?"
"Cheer up, Tim," Haney said he answered, "the little fellows may be suffering but the big ones like you are not touched."

Haney said he had seen Timberlake last early in the morning, before the bank opened for business, and had searched for him several times after that, once ordering a clerk to call the Francis and Stratford banks to see if he could be located.

BIBLE THOUGHT OF TODAY

SELF MASTERY:—Keep back thy servant also from presumptuous sins; let them not have dominion over me: then shall I be upright, and I shall be innocent from the great transgression. Let the words of my mouth and the meditation of my heart, be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my strength, and my Redeemer.—Psalm 19:13, 14.

LEADERS SCARCE.

There appears to be a dearth of leaders—real leaders—in the affairs of the world just now. Usually great crises produce men of sufficient capacity to carry through, but somehow for once the rule appears to be slow in working. The English revolution produced its Cromwell, the French revolution its Napoleon and the struggle of the colonies for independence its Washington. Along with these were some able assistants who succeeded in helping to put their superiors' ideas into effect. Even in our own country there are no leaders capable of awakening an enthusiastic following. However, there is no reason to despair. Perhaps the need for safe guidance is not so great now as it will be later and that before many more years have rolled around a sufficient number of men will have developed as leaders to put the world on its feet again. America can get along better than European nations. The war created several new countries and left some of the older ones in a state of chaos which has not yet evolved into tranquility. Evidently new men must be found to direct the destinies of these people and guide their uncertain footsteps into a path of sanity leading to order and prosperity.

SWEETENING OKLAHOMA

Bee keeping in Oklahoma has apparently gained largely this year. Ada people have been unable to get enough hives for their swarms, being advised by the wholesale dealers that the demand is so great that they have been unable to supply it. There is always a good demand for honey but the supply in Oklahoma has always been rather small. However, with the growing popularity of clover the bee business is gaining ground and instead of shipping in California and Texas honey the prospect is that the state will soon be an exporter. Bees require some attention but they pay handsomely when handled properly as is evidenced by the record of several Ada men. Pontotoc county honey took first prize at the state fairs last year and has a good chance to repeat it this year. At all events thousands of dollars worth of first class honey will be produced this year and next year still more attention given to the business.

FOUR THOUSAND PAPERS OUT OF BUSINESS.

Records recently compiled show that more than 4,000 newspapers of various sizes have suspended publication in the United States during the past four years. A printing journal ascribes this to the rapidly mounting cost of publication, estimating that the cost of publishing a paper is now 300 percent on an average above what it was fifteen years ago, most of the increase coming since the out-break of the war. Time was when a man of no experience worth mentioning and equipped with a handful of type and W. Wash press considered himself a newspaper man and with a mission to reform the universe. In the general change of conditions the printing business has reached the level of a real business and one that requires money as well as brains to make go. In the end it will be a survival of the fittest.

THE FORD PRESIDENTIAL BOOM.

The Henry Ford presidential boom may cause a shaking up of the dry bones in the political cemetery. That Ford is a man capable of handling big things and solving weighty problems goes without saying and with his record as an employer he would be strong with the labor element. Too often the public is hoodwinked by some smooth talking machine politician who never made a success of anything he undertook and elevated to prominence for no other reason than he has a machine behind him. If personal achievement is any index to a man's ability Ford stands out pre-eminently above the professional politician and could be relied on to give the nation a business administration. As we see it there are many men in the United States who would do far worse than Ford at the head of the government.

Every man owes a duty to his community but he must not expect much gratitude for his efforts. Generally he will get more criticism than praise, no matter how unselfishly he may labor for the public good. His motives may be questioned and his ideas may not be readily adopted, but this is no reason why he should not do his best. It is up to the public spirited citizen to go ahead and let time determine the value of his services regardless of the reception the public gives him now. Duty calls and some one must answer or the community's interests will suffer.

Arkansas is making another attempt to get away with portions of Texas and Oklahoma. Some humorists over there and no mistake. However, perhaps there will be some fat fees for the lawyers who lose the case for Arkansas.

MAKING A "RAID"

The Forum of the Press

To Keep America American.
(Duncan Eagle)

"The greatest problem confronting this generation is the problem of keeping America American. This is fundamental—all else is secondary. If we can solve this problem all others will take care of themselves and we will secure a future even more glorious than the past."

"Now to this question, 'How long can we keep America American?' The answer depends upon the maintenance of the integrity of American blood. Blood is life and its quality determines in advance the quality of manhood and womanhood. Diseased and corrupt blood writes no laws, invents no tools, achieves no liberties."

"If we are to keep America American we must educate our citizens. Our forefathers developed a fine system of schools and these must be allowed to reach the last boy and girl in the land. There are nearly 30,000,000 persons living in our land who never have attended these schools and are therefore unacquainted with American speech, American thought and American ideals and traditions. If America is to remain American we must assimilate these foreigners, segregate their minds and change their hate into love for our form of government."

Again, if we are to keep America American we must moralize all our citizens. For nearly 300 years our parents have risen up early and sat up late to drill the ten commandments into the minds of our children. As a result we have been a nation of sober, honest and God-fearing people. One of the most alarming facts is that there are forces at work which deliberately seek to break down our moral standards and to sink us into a wallow of licentiousness. Crime and immorality run rampant. But the tide against Americanism and law and order has reached its crest. Already the people have decided that either these criminal and corrupt men must obey the law of common decency and respect the constitution, or they must get out of the country."

"These evils must be corrected and these wrongs overturned if America is to remain American. And to accomplish this it is going to require men who are willing to pay the price. The enemies are numerous and powerful and to meet them successfully will require courage, fortitude and suffering."

"But in every crisis of our country men have risen up equal to the occasion and we have no doubt that in this serious hour of our history there will be men worthy of our sires. Men whom the lust of office cannot spoil; men, who the spoils of office cannot buy. Strong men, who have honor, who will not lie; men who can stand four-square for all that is right and noble and pure."

The foregoing are excerpts from the speech of State Captain Salkeid of the American Legion, delivered in Duncan last Memorial Day.

Changing Views. (Chickasha Express)

A boy's estimate of his parents shifts as the years go by. Up to five or six he thinks them the wisest individuals on earth. He quotes their sayings and considers their opinions final with the perference given the maternal wisdom.

By the time he is old enough to take his bath alone he thinks over the matter and decides that mother isn't as smart as he thought she was, but father knows a good many things and cites to himself their respective opinions on swimmin', fishin', and going to the barber vs. maternal hair-clipping.

About the time he sneaks dad's razor to his own room and experiments a little with the fuzz on his chin he concludes father is a well-meaning duffer enough, but mother knows less than nothing.

Five years later he pities the ignorance of the whole world and especially that of the old folks.

At thirty, about the time he wants to borrow money from dad to cover some of his financial mistakes he thinks father's and mother's advice is pretty good sometimes.

Ten to fifteen years later when he has a lad or two of his own, the old boy begins to wonder why he never appreciated the old folks.

At sixty, when his parents are dead, he idealizes them as the greatest characters of their age and spends hours telling his children how implicitly he always heeded and obeyed the slightest wish or command of his parents and how he ever and always took their advice in the crisis of life.—Farm Life.

FAKE MAGAZINE MEN USE SERVICE GRAFT

Many posts of The American Legion are reporting that fake solicitors for magazines are asking endorsement of their various publications alleged to be printed for benefit of the disabled men. Investigation has often revealed that all revenues of the publication goes to some selfish private end, and in many instances the person soliciting is a fraud and not the agent of any paper. The Legion wishes the public advised concerning its policy in such matters as set out in the following resolution adopted by the National Executive Committee:

"Whereas, numerous requests are received at National headquarters requesting endorsement of divers and sordid publications, and

"Whereas, the country is filled at the present time with various enterprises which attempt to impose upon the patriotic generosity of the American people, now therefore be it

"Resolved, that the policy of The American Legion toward such requests is that no endorsement be given and the public generally be advised to investigate all claims of purporting to be in the interest of veterans with the utmost care and thoroughness before subscribing or donating any amount whatsoever, using for the purpose of investigation, chambers of commerce, local financial institutions, and other regularly established agencies existing in their respective communities, and withhold all support until and unless they receive favorable endorsement through such agencies."

American Legion Weekly is the only official publication of the Legion, which represents all ex-service men.

W. G. Stigler, former commander of the Munn-Dunlap Post No. 22, Stigler, reports that the post was advised by the Disabled Veterans' Magazine that one William Carlson, to whom over thirty men at Stigler had paid two dollars advance subscription on the plea that proceeds from the publication would aid disabled men, was not an agent of theirs. The Stigler men will not receive the magazine, and would appreciate any information of the whereabouts of Carlson.

Keith Lowry Post No. 5, Kingfisher, is another Oklahoma Legion post to order a radio set as a means of entertainment for its members. The post has its own home in the $90,000 memorial hall, and recently members subscribed $900 to completely equip the home. A $500 player piano, pool and billiard tables and a fine set of furniture adorn the home. The post has a membership of ten per cent of the population, and holds a bi-monthly dance, according to E. C. Newer, adjutant.

Despite the fact that New Orleans, La., has been chosen as its 1922 convention city, the American Legion has received a $200,000 offer from Kansas City, Mo., which would be host of the ex-soldiers this year as it was in 1921. The offer followed questions by the New Orleans chamber of commerce, inquiring of Kansas City if the service men's gathering was a commercial asset.

Arthur J. Matheny post No. 64, Chandler, with the aid of a local Pathe representative, schools and civic organizations, made and staged a moving picture of local happenings, and made quite an addition to the post treasury.

The first building built by Uncle Sam at Fort Wrangell, Alaska, when that country was first occupied by the United States in 1867, has been remodeled and presented to the Alaska American Legion as a clubhouse.

Edwin K. White post No. 10, Okmulgee, on Memorial Day fired a salute over an improvised grave representing the soldier dead of all wars in the Old Council House yard, after appropriate ceremonies according to B. W. Parks, adjutant. Their Legion band led the parade.

Fifteen ex-soldiers have formed a post of the American Legion exactly on a spot in Harpoot, Asia Minor they say, where Adam and Eve first kept house. The unit is called the Garden of Eden post. American Legionnaires in Turkey now number 216.

One plan in the platform adopted by the Republican state convention of Indiana declares that "we acknowledge our indebtedness and gratitude to the veterans of all wars," and that "we favor Federal adjusted compensation for world war veterans."

With the Bahamas and Bermudas not too far away, the Tampa, Fla., American Legion has placed its entire membership at the disposal of the prohibition enforcement officer of that district.

The First Fifty Years.

Private Ulysses Roosevelt Jones was always longing for Alabama, but the case goods on the Brest dock after the Armistice continued to pile up and Ulysses's life was plumb miserable.

"Boss," he said to his big black sergeant, "boss, Ah's mighty sick o' dis yere liftin' and unliftin'. It's wuss dan de wah. It's de wah all over ag'in an' Ah only 'listed fo' the duration."

"Lissen, boy," said the sergeant, giving one white-eyed glare at Ulysses. "Heah's what Ah introduce yo' peanut brain to knowledge. De wah am over sho' nought, but de duration yo' is in fo' now ain't sca'cely commenced."—American Legion weekly, June 9th.

S. S. S. Will Rid You of Boils, Pimples, Blackheads and Skin Eruptions.

A boil is a volcano—your blood is so chock full of poisons that these "boil" out into a boil. They'll keep "boiling up" until you destroy them completely by the use of S. S. S., one of the most powerful blood-purifiers known to science. S. S. S. has stood the test of time. The power of its ingredients is acknowledged by authorities. Its medicinal ingredients are guaranteed to be purely vegetable. Right off, it clears the skin of pimples, boils, blotches, blackheads, acne, eczema, rash and other skin eruptions, and does it thoroughly. It drives out of the blood impurities which cause rheumatism, makes the blood rich and pure builds up lost flesh. It helps to manufacture new blood cells—that's one of its secrets. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores, in two sizes. The larger size is the more economical.

Are you "up to the neck" in blood impurities? S. S. S. is one of the greatest blood-purifiers known. Try it.

EAST CENTRAL IS NOT HIGH SCHOOL

Local Institution Jumps To Leadership Among the State Colleges.

East Central college is getting out of the high school class into a college rank and has made rapid progress on this line for the past two years, according to the belief of Prof. G. S. Dowell, one of the special faculty members of the college, and superintendent of schools at Tecumseh. He is also secretary of the East Central association, organized among principals and superintendents of the district to give the local college wholesome advertisement.

Mr. Dowell said he believed one of the reasons for the advancement of the school was that degrees are now being conferred, which made it possible for college students to attend the school with a view to receiving more than a teaching certificate. Less high school students are enrolling, he pointed out, and more students in the college class are being added to the roster.

This is rapidly placing the local institution among the leading colleges of the southwest, he said, and predicts a bright future for the institution. In mentioning these beliefs he stated that personally he was confident that the standard of work being done had increased a large percent, which also is attracting students.

Mr. Dowell said that from his personal knowledge there were several men, formerly students of the local college, who were beginning to break into affairs of the state. This has not been the case before, he pointed out.

Not "Normal" Now.

He criticized people of the city on the practice of calling the institution a "normal." A normal school, he explained is little higher than a high school. East Central is no longer a normal, but is now a full fledged college. He said people of Ada should begin calling it "the college."

After talking at length on the value of the institution to its students, he spoke of the warm feeling between the school and the people of the district, to whom it belongs. He praised Dr. A. Linscheid as president of the school and the work which he is accomplishing. All the leading business men of Tecumseh are acquainted with Dr. Linscheid, he said, and are now boosting for the Ada school.

The financial side of the summer school was taken up for discussion. Although it is not for the financial gain to Ada people that the school is boosted by people of the district, he admitted that not a single business or profession in the city would go without some financial benefit from the summer session. This is the good Ada people derive from their support of the school and tireless efforts in promoting it to greater things, he concluded.

Woman Surprises Her Friends

"After a spell of Typhoid Fever 7 years ago I began to suffer from indigestion and gas in my stomach and colic attacks. This gradually became so bad that my doctor advised an operation for gall stones. A friend advised me to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy which I did with splendid results. My friends were astonished at my rapid improvement. I have no more bloating and can eat anything I wish." It removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Sold by Gwin & Mays and druggists everywhere.—Adv.

SALESMAN SAYS HE IS BUBBLING OVER WITH LIFE

Was So Run Down Before Taking Tanlac He Could Hardly Drag Through the Day, States Sommers.

"Since taking this Tanlac you should see me hustling down to breakfast every morning; and eat, my, I simply eat up everything in sight," is the characteristic statement of J. G. Sommers, a popular well-known cigar salesman, residing at 727 Carpenter Place, St. Louis, Mo.

"I had been feeling all run down and played out for several months. I would wake up mornings with a sickening taste in my mouth no appetite, and so little energy that I just dragged myself through the day."

"One day a friend came in the store and I told him I was feeling 'rotten'—not a very elegant expression, but it describes just how I felt. He said he had very little sympathy for me, for if I would only take Tanlac it will put me on my feet. So I got me some Tanlac and it has done just what he said it would. I have taken two bottles now and am amply bubbling over with new life and energy. I sleep like a log nights and am in the pink of condition in every way. Tanlac certainly hits the spot."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.—Adv.

Here we come again after an absence of several weeks. Although you have had no news from us in quite a while, we are still full of pep.

Our Sunday school is gradually growing stronger. There were about sixty out Sunday.

Brother Malloy filled his regular appointment Sunday and Sunday night.

We have real good singing every Sunday afternoon at two-thirty. Everybody is invited to come out.

Miss Neva Kennon is now staying with her parents and attending the Teachers college. She drives back and forth. We are glad to have Miss Kennon with us. She is an accomplished musician and, therefore, a great help to our singing.

Roy and Jimmy Lollar of Ada were visiting her sister Lillie Wauson this week. She returned to her home Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Emerson gave the young folks a party Tuesday night, which was greatly enjoyed by every one. After playing games for about two hours refreshments were served and all departed at a late hour declaring Mr. and Mrs. Emerson the best of hosts and hostesses. Those present were: Misses Vera and Vida Simmons, Vendetta and Juanita Smith, Retha Anderson, Betsy Kerr, Neva Kennon, Lizzie Rutherford, Nola and Loraine Lancaster, Like Wauson and Mary Brown.

Elzie Smith, Erbie Lollar, Spencer and Dewey Anderson, Lee and Theodore Wauson, and Landon Jackson.

Prayer meeting was well attended Wednesday night. Vendetta Smith was leader. Vida Simmons will be leader next Wednesday night.

Lawton.—The Comanche county livestock judging contest will be held at Cameron college June 8. Boys from all over the county are expected to participate.

SUICIDE VERDICT RETURNED TODAY

Janitor Made Discovery.

About 2:30 in the afternoon, Haney said, Victor, the janitor, reported to him that the basement door was being held shut by someone from within and the caretaker wondered "if somebody was playing a joke on him." The two went to the basement but were unable to force the door. They returned and got Claude Griffith. When all three were unable to effect entrance, they enlisted the aid of P. S. Case and P. A. Norris. When a small opening had been made in the door, Haney said he saw the lower portion of a man's leg. The door was then forced further back and Case entered. He struck a match.

"My God, it's Tim," he declared. Haney said he was stunned and could do nothing on his own volition. He declared he did not think of notifying the dead man's relatives. A search of the vice-president's desk revealed no note of explanation, he said, but about a quart of revolver cartridges were found.

Murder Is Hinted.

About six weeks after Timberlake's funeral, one of the young ladies employed in the bank reported by telephone to him that she had been accosted repeatedly by W. F. Schulte, local attorney and a relative of Timberlake's, who seemed to be laboring under the belief that the banker had been murdered. Haney said he and the girl had held a conference, as the result of which he and John Smith, another officer of the First National, had gone to Sheriff Duncan and the assistant county attorney and requested a full investigation of the affair. Duncan told him later that Schulte had dropped the case, he said.

Sheriff Duncan substantiated this piece of testimony and added that Schulte objected to the probe being conducted by H. F. Mathis, assistant county attorney, because he was related by marriage to officers of the bank.

Walked Restlessly.

B. C. King testified to having seen Timberlake alive later than anyone else had. He said the restless walking of the banker, up and down south Broadway, from Main to Twelfth street, had attracted his attention that day. The last time he saw him was between 12:30 and 1 o'clock in the afternoon. Then the banker was either standing or walking slowly near the place where a stairway goes down to the bank basement.

Mrs. M. D. Timberlake testified that there was nothing unusual in her husband's conduct before he left home on the fatal day and that he ate breakfast heartily. She said he always kissed members of the family upon leaving for the bank and did not deviate from the habit upon that day.

Mrs. Steward, formerly Miss Hooper, employed as a clerk in the bank and one of the three witnesses called in the case held here two weeks ago by Assistant Attorney General N. W. Gore, denied having made statements to Mrs. C. D. Price in a local fashion shop that "I believe Timberlake was murdered," and "the crime lays between two men."

Assistant County Attorney Mathis said he had made a hurried examination of the room in which Timberlake died and had decided it was a case of suicide. He had thought of holding an inquest, he said, but it was decided this was unnecessary.

Doctors on Stand.

Dr. J. L. Jefferies was the first witness called at the opening of the hearing immediately after jurymen returned from the scene of the death. Dr. Jefferies was excused after stating that he had not been called to examine the body and that he knew nothing of the case. Dr. S. P. Ross followed Dr. Jefferies on the stand. He told of the finding of the body as he knew it. Others were already there when he arrived, he said. He also described the nature of the wound and where it entered the head. Dr. Ross also said that he later examined the room and tried to find the place where the bullet struck after it left the head.

J. U. Criswell, undertaker who took charge of the body, was called to the stand for questioning in regard to the fact that he took the body without having notified relatives. Cross questioning, however, failed to reveal evidence of import-ance, as friends of the family had looked after calling the undertaker and preparing it for burial. Criswell also told of finding some smoke stain on the left side of the head.

Dr. Craig was the fourth witness. He said he was the first physician to see the body and told a story similar to that of the other witnesses in regard to the position of the body when he examined it. The hands were cool. He repeatedly refused to tell the jury his personal conviction as to who fired the shot.

Victor Vallery, janitor at the bank, was also called to the stand. He was the first person to find the body. He told of calling bank officials and notifying them of not being able to open the basement door "because he thought there was someone behind it."

LADY ASTOR NOT TO SPEAK WHEN SHE COMES NEXT

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, June 9.—The next time Lady Astor visits America, she intends to make no speeches. That was what she confided to reporters before sailing for England.

Few public speakers, or workers of any sort, are ever keyed to the high nervous tension with which Lady Astor seems charged when addressing an audience. Her nervousness may not have been so apparent to listening crowds at her 40-odd public speaking appearances in this country during April and the first three weeks of May. But if one sat near her, the eye quickly observed that she incessantly wrung her hands behind her back and ran her fingers over and under her jeweled bracelets, the muscles of her arms and shoulders quivering from nervousness.

Somehow the strain never seemed to affect the clarity of her speaking tones. In fact, her talks to crowds, no matter what their size, were in a manner friendly and informal. Always she was breaking away from her prepared notes to start a sentence with the loose, conversational "now," or "well."

But when the speech was done, the first woman member of the House of Commons was fagged out and intensely nervous. That, too, seemed never to ruffle her smooth, smiling demeanor, nor did her expression reveal fatigue.

Lord Astor knew how high-strung the Lady Commoner really was, and he made it his job to keep her from talking too much to friends just before or after a speech. "Nancy, Nancy," he would call in warning whenever she pitched straight from ma speech into chats to which she seemed to give just as much energy.

Reporters seated immediately in the rear of the speaker's dias when Lady Astor gave her farewell address noticed that her shoulders suddenly deepened to a pink flush as she got up to talk. Then, when her message had gone over, and there remained only the two closing paragraphs, the tension was relieved and the blush faded from her skin.

MIDGETS BLANK COLLEGE SQUAD

High School Men Continue Winning Streak With
2-0 Victory

Paul Waner's Midgets could not be stopped yesterday and although they were held to only three hits, the youngsters managed to get two runs, while at the same time Lefty Morrison was holding the Collegians to no runs and four hits. This is the third victory for the Midgets and the second shut-out for the college.

Thursday's game was the best that has been played in the city league. Although four errors were made, none of them were of much importance and the game was fast enough to be interesting. Players showed a marked improvement over former exhibitions of ball.

Officials of the league clubs have expressed the opinion that for the remainder of the season the games will improve as the players are now getting enough practice to get some form to their playing. The Legion and College squads play next Tuesday afternoon at 5:30 and Ralph Waner, manager of the Athletic association, stated that he wanted all holders of athletic tickets to see the game, as the tickets were issued as passes to such entertainment.

Coach Thompson's men were in much better form Thursday than they have ever been and he expects to be able to win his first game from the Legion. The college squad got to Morrison for four bingles yesterday, one a triple and one a double. O. Vernon hit a good triple, but was out trying to stretch it into a round trip.

POLICEMAN BELIEVED
FATALLY SHOT TODAY

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, June 9.—Physicians today were doubtful of the recovery of Jack Johnson, policeman, who is in a hospital here with a bullet wound in his abdomen, received in a shooting affray last night in which Ed Sparr, leather whip salesman, was killed. The shooting occurred when officers attempted to arrest Sparr, who they said was intoxicated and disorderly.

J. G. Furlow, a bystander, who was shot through the thigh, is said to be recovering.

HARDING LAUDS
G. WASHINGTON

ence had moved the British authorities to especially demanded efforts for quick suppression of the revolution. To them, it was vitally important that the fires of revolt be smothered before the new feeling of nationality had arisen to make the colonists realize the substantial unity of their cause and their interests. The strategy of the British invasion of New Jersey has been bitterly criticised many times, but it must always be remembered that there is an intimate relationship between political conditions and military operations and that in this case the political situation was certain to depend very greatly on military developments. The destruction of Washington's army would almost have snuffed out the revolution.

"Wars are writ very big in history;
very much bigger sometimes than they deserve to be. Battles have seldom decided the gates of the people. The real story of human progress is written elsewhere than on the world's battlefields, and war and conflict privileges provide rather its punctuation than its theme. But among the exceptions among the cases in which a particular conflict has had consequences and reverberations far greater in their potency than could possibly be imagined from a consideration of the numbers engaged, or the immediate results, none stands out more distinctly than does the Trenton-Princeton campaign. We cannot say that the cause of independence and union would have been another and different issue from the struggle of those hard mid-winter days.

Princeton Was Climax.
"The climax of that desperate adventure came on the field of Princeton.
Trenton had been an almost complete surprise, an easy victory.
Princeton was a desperately contested engagement, whose immediate result included not only an unhunting of the patriotic cause, but profound discouragement to those on the other side of the Atlantic, who were responsible for the continuation of the war.

"So you have erected here at Princeton a fitting memorial to the heroes of that day. We bring and lay at its foot the laurel wreaths which gratitude and patriotic sentiment will always dedicate to those who have borne the heat and burden of the conflict. Let us believe that their example in all of the future may be, as thus far it has been,
a glorious inspiration to our country.

"Here the genius of General Washington reached the height of its brilliance in action. Here his followers wrote their highest testimony of valor. Here liberty seeking devotion struggled through privation and unbelievable exertion, to gain the heights. The crimsoned prints of the number and bleeding feet marked the route a pathway to eternal glory. Thither they trudged through storm and torrent; but from here, in the hour of victory, went out

TEXAS SHERIFF REMOVED TODAY IN KLAN PROBE

BEAUMONT, Tex., June 9.—Tom Garner, sheriff of Jefferson county, was found guilty of official misconduct and ordered removed from office in a jury verdict returned in district court here today.

Judge Robert G. Street in instructing for a verdict for the removal of the sheriff said the fact that the officer had become a member of the Ku Klux Klan was contrary to the oath he took as sheriff.

Counsel for the sheriff protested that there was nothing in the Klan oath in conflict with the duties of the sheriff but the court declared the oath of the Klan is in effect "to deceive the ignorant and unwary."

The case will be appealed, counsel said.

How Glasses Preserve One's Youthful Appearance

It is often urged that glasses will make the wearer look old, but, as a matter of fact, wearing glasses is one of the best preservers of youthful appearance.

This is because prolonged eyestrain causes wrinkles and "crow's-feet" to appear prematurely and gives the countenance a strained, tired, drawn, cross look which is far more to be avoided from a point of view of appearance, than from any real or fancied disfigurement caused by glasses.

We use particular care in fitting glasses and in selection of mountings most becoming to each person's individual style of beauty.

PHILLIPS CASE IN GEORGIA TO BE CALLED OFF

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 9.—Representative Woodruff, republican, Michigan, declared in the house today that according to his information from three different sources, J. L. Phillips, republican state chairman of Georgia, had stated a week prior to his arrest on charges in connection with war fraud cases that "the things on the hill have come to such a condition" that he probably would be arrested, but that would be the end of the affair.

Representative Larson, democrat, Georgia, characterized the arrest of Phillips as an attempt "by Attorney General Daugherty to shield himself from public criticism." He added that he did not expect the attorney general to continue the prosecution further.

Frisco Workman Is Killed at Sapulpa Beneath Turntable

(By the Associated Press)
SAPULPA, June 9.—M. E. Bates, 31, round house hostler, was instantly killed beneath the Frisco roundhouse turntable here at 9 o'clock this morning when he was caught in the cogwheels of the machine.

Bates, it was announced by railroad officials, had gone under the table to oil the machinery. When he was thus engaged a negro helper started the motor that operates the table. Bates was horribly mangled.

None of the roundhouse employees, it was said, were advised by Bates that he was going under the table. He is survived by his widow and one child.

Mrs. Robert Hair is reported ill at her home today.

Farmers' Column

By Hyron Norrell

Here is an item I picked up concerning an egg laying record. I have idea how it compares with those of Pontotoc county, would like to know if any one here has beaten this record with Leghorns or any other breed. It will be interesting to compare results obtained by our home people, anyway. Here is the item mentioned:

Mrs. E. H. Thomas, who lives two miles north of Tulsa, has submitted a laying record for her flock of 103 White Leghorn hens for the 31 days of March. The total egg production by 103 Leghorns was 1757 eggs. The lowest daily production of eggs was March 5th, when 19 eggs were laid, and the highest yield was March 25th, when 32 eggs were produced. The average production per day was 56.7 eggs. Mrs. Thomas has kept a record of money received from the sale of these eggs.

She sold 36 dozen at 30c, $10.80; two settings of 15 eggs each at $1.00 $2.00; 92 11-12 dozen at 27c, $25.29; 15 dozen for home use at 27c, $4.05; total, $42.14.

She fed these hens: 100 lbs. corn chops, $1.30; 100 lbs. kafir, $1.40; -00 lbs. shorts, $1.50; 250 lbs. meat scraps, $7.50; total $11.50.

Deducting this $11.50, cost of feeding, from the gross sales leaves a net profit of $30.64. It might be of interest to state that these hens had free range during the month of March.

Excellent Hard Soap.

Mrs. Elva R. Duvall, home demonstration agent of Pontotoc county, has been very successful in using the following recipe for making soap. She finds that 45 cents will buy enough lye, borax, ammonia and citronelle to make six pounds of good firm soap. As the citronelle is used for perfuming the soap it may be omitted.

1/2 can Eagle lye.
3 lbs. old lard, tallow or butter.
1 tablespoon ammonia.
1 table spoon borax.
1/2 ounce citronelle to perfume it.
Pour the lye into a vessel containing 1/2 quart rain water. Stir awhile. It soon dissolves and becomes smoking hot. Let stand and cool awhile. Melt the grease until lukewarm and strain it through a cheese cloth so as to insure clean soap. Now add the ammonia, borax and citronelle. Pour the lye on the fat very slowly, stirring constantly until the mixture is as thick as honey. Pour into old baking pan or a box to mould; in two hours cut into bars. Wait about six weeks before using. It improves with age. This makes a hard soap. Splendid results will be had if instructions are followed.

Of all onery cusses that happened along the snitch is the worst. Here our Galey correspondent came along this week and tells a tale out of school, or rather out of a watermelon patch down in Texas, after I thought he would forget about it up here in Oklahoma. I call that pretty mean, and if he does not stop these tales I shall have to tell a few on him. For instance the night he and I raided a chicken roost and he got caught in a trap the owner of the chickens had set for varmints. I have not told this yet but will if he does not get good again. I am mighty mean when I once get started.

Those who desire to learn more about handling cream and other dairy products should keep in mind the visit of a state dairy inspector who will be in Ada Monday, June 19. The demonstration, lecture and examination will be held at Agent Hill's office at 9:30 a. m.

Mrs. Duvall reports some interesting club meetings during the past week. At Pecan Grove the ladies had a group picture made at their last meeting. At Pickett they spent an afternoon canning berries add bees at Mrs. A. P. Robertson's. At Center they had a lesson in canning carrots and beans at Mrs. Copeland's. Four members of this club have bought steam pressure cookers.

Mrs. Duvall and the ladies of her various clubs are planning a canning exhibit for the state fairs this fall that ought to be a winner. It will consist of 48 jars no two containing the same thing. Some are already canned and others will be as soon as the vegetables and fruits needed are ready for canning.

The exhibit is limited exclusively to the farm women of the state.

I attended a meeting of the boys and girls club at Lovelady Wednesday afternoon. On account of being busy in the crops quite a number were absent, but those present were full of enthusiasm. One small boy approached Mr. Hill on the subject of becoming a member of the pig club and was somewhat disappointed because he was too young. However, Mr. Hill told him to go ahead with his pig and begin learning how to handle him to the best advantage and he would be that much ahead when he finally reaches the required age.

The meeting was presided over by Ray Allen with Lois Robison acting as secretary. Both Mr. Hill and Mrs. Duvall made short talks on the work and gave them instructions about preparing exhibits for the fairs in the fall.

RICCI SAYS TARIFF INCIDENT IS CLOSED

WASHINGTON, June 9.—The incident growing out of remarks on the tariff bill by Ambassador Ricci of Italy, calling forth caustic criticism from the floor of the senate, has been closed. MACHINE GIVES PASTOR'S WORDS

Alleged Conversation of Lawton Minister Given In Trial Today.

(By the Associated Press)

LAWTON, June 9.—Most of the morning session today of the preliminary hearing of the Rev. Thomas J. Irwin, former pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, charged with arson, was devoted to argument between counsel as to the introduction of a stenographer's transcript of an alleged conversation between Rev. Irwin and H. C. Lewis, which was secured by the use of a secret telephonic device. The alleged conversation took place in a witness room during the court of inquiry. Lewis is a former elder in the church in which Irwin was pastor. The arson charge grew out of a series of attempts to burn the Presbyterian church.

Police Operates Set.
H. A. Murphey, who described himself on the stand as an expert from the Oklahoma City police department, who came here to operate the device by which the alleged conversation was said to have been received, told of its operation and how he and the stenographer had listened through separate headsets to the two men talking.

Sheriff G. H. Fransmot followed Murphey on the stand and testified that he had kept the officer informed as to who was in the witness room so that a record was made on the conversation only when Rev. Irwin and Lewis were alone.

M. C. Chilcutt has returned from a business trip of several weeks to points in New Mexico.
